MEMORANDUM

DATE: May 22, 2015

TO: Robert Cesario - District Commander, Sgt. Jason Clark (19th District Community Policing), undisclosed recipients

FROM: [REDACTED]

SUBJECT: Incident with Three Police Officers

---

Dear Sirs,

I want to inform you, in writing and officially, of an incident that occurred a couple of hours ago. I do so because if "something" happens to me I want a record of it.

This afternoon on the corner of [REDACTED], at approximately 12:30 PM an SUV type vehicle with three men stopped to question me as I took a picture of a postal truck with graffiti tagging on it. They were northbound on Racine. I am certain the men were police officers, although they were in an unmarked vehicle and were not wearing police uniforms. Most of the questions came from the driver, to which I provided honest answers. One was: "Do you take pictures of houses?". I answered "no"- except when I do so professionally as part of marketing a home for sale or rent. When I asked why he was asking these questions, he told me: "Because we have reports that someone was taking pictures of houses." I told him it could not have been me... He interrupted and said: "Well if it is you, you need to stop because you are making people uncomfortable." (I am sure that this would probably not be an issue if I were white.) Even after assuring him it wasn't me, he continued to reiterate his directive as they drove off. I felt threatened and the experience was demeaning.

I take pictures in the following instances:

1. when I see graffiti, including tagging. None has ever necessitated that I "... take a picture of a house." I log it in as part of my report and will report most of them to 3-1-1;
2. when I see something that should be reported to 3-1-1: potholes, collapsing sidewalks, seemingly abandoned vehicles, open hydrants, etc. In most cases a pictures is attached to the 311 report and uploaded. (You can verify any of this by extracting the data from 3-1-1. A few times I have noted the building address, but these are generally on major streets;
3. when I see delivery trucks parked illegally- including driving against the flow of traffic, double-parking, double parking against the flow of traffic, parking on crosswalks, etc. These pictures are then sent to the respective company who do a much better job of disciplining the drivers than the police do of sanctioning the violation;

4. when I see a scene that I like- which is never any house in this city.

In light of recent events involving police and ordinary citizens, you really would think that members of the Chicago police force would have learned a few lessons. Obviously they have not. Until now my experiences with police have been largely positive- including as part of a wider effort to resolve graffiti-vandalism on my building and immediate neighborhood. Not only was I not doing anything illegal, but I was also not doing, nor have done, what the men in the vehicle tacitly accused me of doing. It is exactly incidents like this that causes some people to lack trust, faith, and confidence in law enforcement authorities.

Here is the deal. If what I have been doing is illegal, provide actual documentation stating that it is. Then I will stop immediately. Furthermore, and from now on, I won't cooperate with the police on anything- because your guys obviously have more important things to do. Finally, and if it is as I suspect, that this was three rogue goons who probably need to take a trip to "finishing school", then your department needs to talk to them. In the mean time, tell them to stop harassing innocent civilians, acquire a bit of intelligence, and spend more time actually making this city safer.

Respectfully,
